DID YOU SEE QUEENSTOWN BANK'S RED NOSES?

QUEENSTOWN - On May 21st the Queenstown Bank of Maryland branches in Queen Anne's, Talbot and Caroline Counties participated in Red Nose Day. Nose Day is a campaign dedicated to raising money for children and young people living in poverty by simply having fun and making people laugh. The inaugural Red Nose Day was held in the U.S. on May 21st, 2015 when people across the country came together to have fun and raise funds and awareness. The day's events culminated in a three-hour entertainment TV special on NBC featuring the country's favorite comedians, musicians and Hollywood stars.

Karen Dean, Branch Manager of the Centreville Branch, had the idea to participate in the event and when asked why she said, "We wanted to participate because it would be a fun way to raise awareness about poverty in our country and a way to collect food for a food pantry that benefits local residents." When someone from the Day Care Inc. organization heard about Queenstown Bank's participation in Red Nose Day, she donated posters that local area children had drawn for their contest themed "How to make the world a better place". The posters were distributed to each branch location and were displayed leading up to Red Nose Day. Karen Dean and her staff at the Queenstown Bank Centreville Branch took the initiative a step further and collected canned good which they donated to the Centreville United Methodist Church food pantry.
